Peppa Pig and the Rock Pools ... a Recount
by Emily N 1D

One day Peppa Pig, George, Granny Pig and Grandpa Pig went to the seaside.

First Peppa and George explored the rock pools. After that Peppa found a coin.

Next Grandpa Pig got bitten by a crab. Then Peppa found a shell and Granny Pig told Peppa to put the shell to her ear.

After that George found a fossil. Finally they found a fish and put it back in the ocean.

The fish splashed everyone.

Books Are Essential ... an Exposition by Lily M 5C

Books are essential! Imagine a world without books! It would be SUCH a dull place. Books are very effective on our lives. They take us to magnificent places in our imagination and boost our creativity levels. They can also prevent stress and keep us feeling happy and satisfied inside. Wouldn't you like to feel less stressed and live a happier life?

Firstly, if books were dismissed, could you even comprehend the amount of jobs lost? Many, many people author books and printing companies print them. If all those jobs were lost, the WHOLE WORLD would be in debt! Job after job would be gone! Book publishing companies such as: Penguin; Harper Collins and Sterling would be shut down! Imagine THAT! The recipe books and instruction books would be gone and that would just result in even more debt! The whole world would be poor!

In support of my first argument, it would be absolutely absurd if there were no books! Instead of sitting on silly electronics all day, you should get up and read a book! There are many, many genres and authors to suit your preferences. They keep you entertained and you can also wherever you want, such as: in a classroom; outside; at a park; or even on the couch! If there were NO books, people would just be getting dumber and dumber each day! Books allow us to keep on learning. If you kept reading, you would be even smarter each day!

Finally, electronics are a BIG part of this world nowadays, and they are taking over our daily lives! People using Kindles or E-Books are just plain crazy! Reading paper books helps you relax and calms you down, washing your stress away. They make you think up more possibilities and help you be even more creative! Watching movies, you just listen and watch without even taking much of it and creating ideas and thoughts of what's going to happen next. Do you want to watch and ignore or experience what's going on in your own, magical world?

In conclusion, a world without books would be HORRIFIC!! Books are essential! Take a stand and get rid of your E-Books and Kindles and READ ON!
As we have progressed through Term 1, we have received a growing number of reports from parents with children who have head lice. Thank you to those families who have signed and returned the Head Lice Inspection Consent Form. Class screening and spot checks of suspected head lice cases will commence shortly.

Please note that PLPS has in place a Head Lice Policy Agreement that stipulates all children found to have head lice (even 1 or 2 live lice) must be collected from school and cannot resume school until treatment has taken place.

We ask all families to please check your children’s hair each week and treat if necessary.

Here are the facts:

Head lice infestations are a common occurrence, particularly in primary schools.

- it is estimated about 23% of primary students have head lice at any one time
- anyone can catch head lice regardless of their age, sex, or how clean their hair is
- head lice move from one person’s head to another via hair
- head lice do not survive long when they are off a human head
- head lice do not live on furniture, hats, bedding or carpet
- head lice have built up some resistance to head lice treatments

Treatment:

- Daily combing of white hair conditioner using a fine tooth comb is effective in getting rid of head lice and eggs.

Tips for parents in reducing the spread of head lice:

As infestations are particularly common in primary schools, it is best to choose a treatment that can be used over time. There is no single solution to eradication, only persistence.

- regularly check your children’s hair
- teach older children to check their own hair
- tie back or braid long hair
- keep a fine tooth head lice comb in the bathroom and encourage all family members to use it when they wash their hair
Easter Raffle Tickets have already been sent home with students. There are 20 tickets in a book and Raffle Tickets are $1.00 each. Please see the front office if you require more books.

EASTER RAFFLE

In order for our Easter Raffle to be as big a success as last year we are asking families for donations of Easter Eggs and Baskets. The more eggs we get, the more baskets we make up and of course the better chance you have of winning one. All donations can be given to your classroom teacher.
National Day Against Bullying and Violence

Friday 20th March

Friday March 20 is National Day Against Bullying and Violence. We will be celebrating and encouraging harmony, friendship and empathy within year levels.

If your child talks to you about bullying:

1. Listen calmly to get the full story.
2. Reassure your child that they are not to blame.
3. Ask your child what they want to do about it and how you can help.
5. Contact the school.
6. Check-in regularly with your child.

More than 634,000 students at over 1370 schools across the nation are registered for the 2015 National Day of Action against Bullying and Violence!

Please wear a splash of purple.

Thank you for your support!

Teach children to persist

Parents can promote persistence by encouraging their children to keep going and not give in at the slightest hurdle or difficulty.

“Persistence and patience have a magical effect before which difficulties disappear and obstacles vanish.”
John Quincy Adams

The ability to persist at a task and see it through to the end is one of the most important success attributes that you can develop in a child.

There are numerous times every day when children must persist rather than give in. A young child learning to tie shoelaces must persist. A primary aged student must show determination to finish tasks and a secondary student needs to work through difficulties, particularly those he doesn’t understand or complete right away.

They need to be able to persist when work gets hard or life gets tough. They need the ‘stickability’ to work through difficulties and hang in there when things don’t go their way.

Some children are more naturally predisposed to persist than others. They have a determined, even competitive streak in their temperament that doesn’t allow them to give in. These children and young people can drive themselves very hard to succeed.

The results of the Australian Temperament Project show that persistence is the one temperamental factor that can be improved over time. Parents and teachers can develop persistence in children and also impede its development by making life too easy for children so that they don’t have opportunities to persist or hang in there.

Parents can promote persistence by encouraging their children to keep going and not give in at the slightest hurdle or difficulty.

Parents can be a sounding board for children’s gripes but they should show confidence in their ability to cope and get through their difficulties. “You can do it” is far more powerful in terms of promoting an attitude of persistence than “If it is a little too hard then try something else.”

Let children know that there is a correlation between effort and success. In fact, they need to learn that by GIVING EFFORT they will more than likely experience more success. The ability to persist in the face of difficulties maybe an old-fashioned quality but it is one of the best success attributes that children will ever develop.

Here are four practical strategies you can use to promote a sense of persistence in your children:

1. Develop a vocabulary for persistence.
Words like “Hang tough”, “Work Hard” and “Hang in there” can become part of their every day vocabulary.

2. Point out to children when they stick at a task.
Most parents know it pays off when they catch their children being good but it also pays off to catch them being persistent. The behaviours you focus on as parents expand so let them know when they have been persistent. Also remind them that persistence generally pays off.

3. Help children to remember times when they experienced success by HANGING IN when they were younger. Let them know that persistence has paid off before and it will again.

4. Talk about HARD WORK with your children.
They need to understand that to be successful they need to do things that are NOT fun or easy. While it would be good if all work and learning was fun, in reality, this is not always the case.
